FOURTH&PINEWHEAT FUTURES STRONG
ON MODERATE BUYING.SMALL SHORTS RUSH TO
COVER.Weather and Crop News Is Bearish, but Manipulation
Is Feared.

Wheat values closed higher in Saturday's market. Weather conditions were generally favorable and the movement to market was good. The cash demand was merely nominal and there was no little outside support. Rumors of congestion in the May option and a general belief that the Chicago contingent of professionals was preparing to work another bull movement strengthened future values toward the close. The volume of trading was only moderate and most of the buying was by small shorts.

Corn was strong after a rather easy opening. Receipts were light, but country dealers were light and cables were strong.
